FIELD NORTH OF MARNE FOR PERSHING

Organization of First U. S. Field Army in France One of Most Important Developments for Our Forces Operating in France to Date.

COMMANDERS FOR FIVE CORPS NAMED

Liggett, Bullard, Bundy, Reed and Wright, Directly Under Commander in Chief; Air, Tank and Artillery Service Complete.

By the Associated Press.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Sunday, Aug. 11.—The first American field army, whose organization under command of Gen. Pershing was announced last night, will operate, it is understood, in the area north of the Marne from which the Germans have been driven out.

The American divisions which participated in that drive have been under French command, but are now included in the first army. Gen. Pershing retains his post as chief of the American expeditionary forces.

The step is regarded as the most important development in the organization of the American expeditionary forces to date. The creation of the first army brings a great American force under American command, but under the orders of the Generalissimo, Marshal Foch.

The size of the army has not been announced, beyond the indication that it contains five corps, commanded by Major-Generals Liggett, Bullard, Bundy, Reed and Wright. Each corps is composed of several divisions, with each division including 30,000 troops of all arms, while the corps in addition will have its complement of auxiliary troops, supply troops, air squadrons, tanks and heavy artillery.

The creation of the field army is the first step toward the co-ordination of all the American forces in France.

This does not mean the immediate withdrawal from the British and French commands of all American units and it is probable that divisions will be used on the French and British fronts for weeks yet. It is understood, however, that the policy of organizing other armies will be carried out steadily.

ENEMY DIGGING IN OPPOSITE ALLIED VESLE POSITIONS

Observers Report Germans Stringing Wires Northwest of Fismes in Effort to Hold.

By the Associated Press.
WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE VESLE FRONT, Sunday, Aug. 11, 8 a. m.—The Germans made two artillery attacks against the Franco-American troops on the Vesle front, but the allied troops counter attacked so vigorously that the Germans did not launch an infantry attack.

The struggle for the retention of Fismette, on the northern bank of the Vesle, near Fismes, has developed virtually into a continuous fight. The Americans, however, are holding the upper hand.

Both enemy artillery attacks were made before daylight, but the allied counter attack apparently was stronger than the Germans had bargained for. The German infantry made no move. The enemy artillery was heard from only at intervals.

From the hills beyond Fismette, German snipers and machine gun-

'ACH! CAVALRY, TOO? CRIES GERMAN AT AMERICAN TROOPERS

Eight-Inch Enemy Howitzer and 15 in Crew Captured by Our Men in Wood.

By THOMAS MARVIN JOHNSON, A Special Correspondent of the Post Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1918.)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE VESLE, Aug. 11.—American cavalry a few days ago on the Ourcq, captured a big German 8-inch howitzer in a wood and, with it, 15 of the crew which operated it. These included a sergeant who spoke English, and who cried out: "Ach, hauf you got cavalry, too?"

The mounted trooper was scouting ahead of his infantry in a chevron formation over rough ground when they saw a little wood. They rode ahead to see if they could draw machine-gun fire. Trotting down a leaf-shaded lane, they saw a camouflaged gun emplacement. They dismounted and advanced with carbines and revolvers to the gun, whose crew cried "Kamerad" lustily. They had just taken the breech lock out of the gun, which is one of 210.

WATERMELONS WHOLESALE AT 33 CENTS, TWICE 1917 PRICE

But 4 Carloads on Market Against Average of 25 Last Year—Farmers Raise Foodstuffs Instead.

Watermelons were sold today at $4.75 a carload, or approximately 33 cents each, wholesale, which is more than twice as high as they ever have been in previous years, although considerably lower than on Friday, when a record high price of $61.75 was paid for a carload. There are an average of 1400 melons in a car. The highest price paid last year was $200 a carload.

Only four carloads were on the market today. In normal times the daily average would be about twenty-five carloads.

The shortage is due, commissioners say, to the fact that melon growers were asked by the Government to cut down on their acreage, and devote the land to the production of more essential foodstuffs.

Watermelons are being sold out of the patches in the vicinity of Wanda south of Alton, by the pound instead of by the single melon as has been done in former years. The prices are 1 and 2 cents a pound.

FROM BERLIN TO BERLIN

Marine Recruit From Illinois Town Hopes to Make the Journey.

From Berlin to Berlin is the journey which Fred C. Scholl hopes to make through his enlistment in the Marine Corps. His home is in Berlin, but he is anxious to go to that other place of the same name where the Kaiser lives.

Berlin, Ill., is 15 miles east of Springfield, and has a population of about 200. Scholl said he was the first man in the town to volunteer for service, though the place has shown its loyalty in other directions by buying its share of Liberty Bonds and Thrift Stamps and furnishing its full draft quota.

3 STEAMERS ARE REPORTED SUNK OFF U. S. COAST

Thought to Have Been Sent Down by German Submarine That Sank 9 Fishing Schooners.

60 FISHERMEN STILL AT SEA IN DORIES

Members of Crew of Craft Attacked Say U-Boat Suddenly Appeared in Midst of Their Fleet.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—German submarine raiders operating off the north Atlantic coast have destroyed three more vessels, the navy department today announced. The U-boat is assumed to be the same one that sank 9 fishing schooners of the U. S. coast Saturday and Sunday.

The British steamer Penitence of 419 tons gross, was torpedoed 100 miles east of Nantucket, and an American schooner was destroyed by gunfire yesterday. All members of the crew of the Sydland, of 3031 gross tons, was sunk by bombs Aug. 8, 100 miles southeast of Nantucket, and an American schooner was destroyed by gunfire yesterday. All members of the crew of the Sydland were reported saved, but the navy's dispatches did not clear up the fate of the crew of the other vessel.

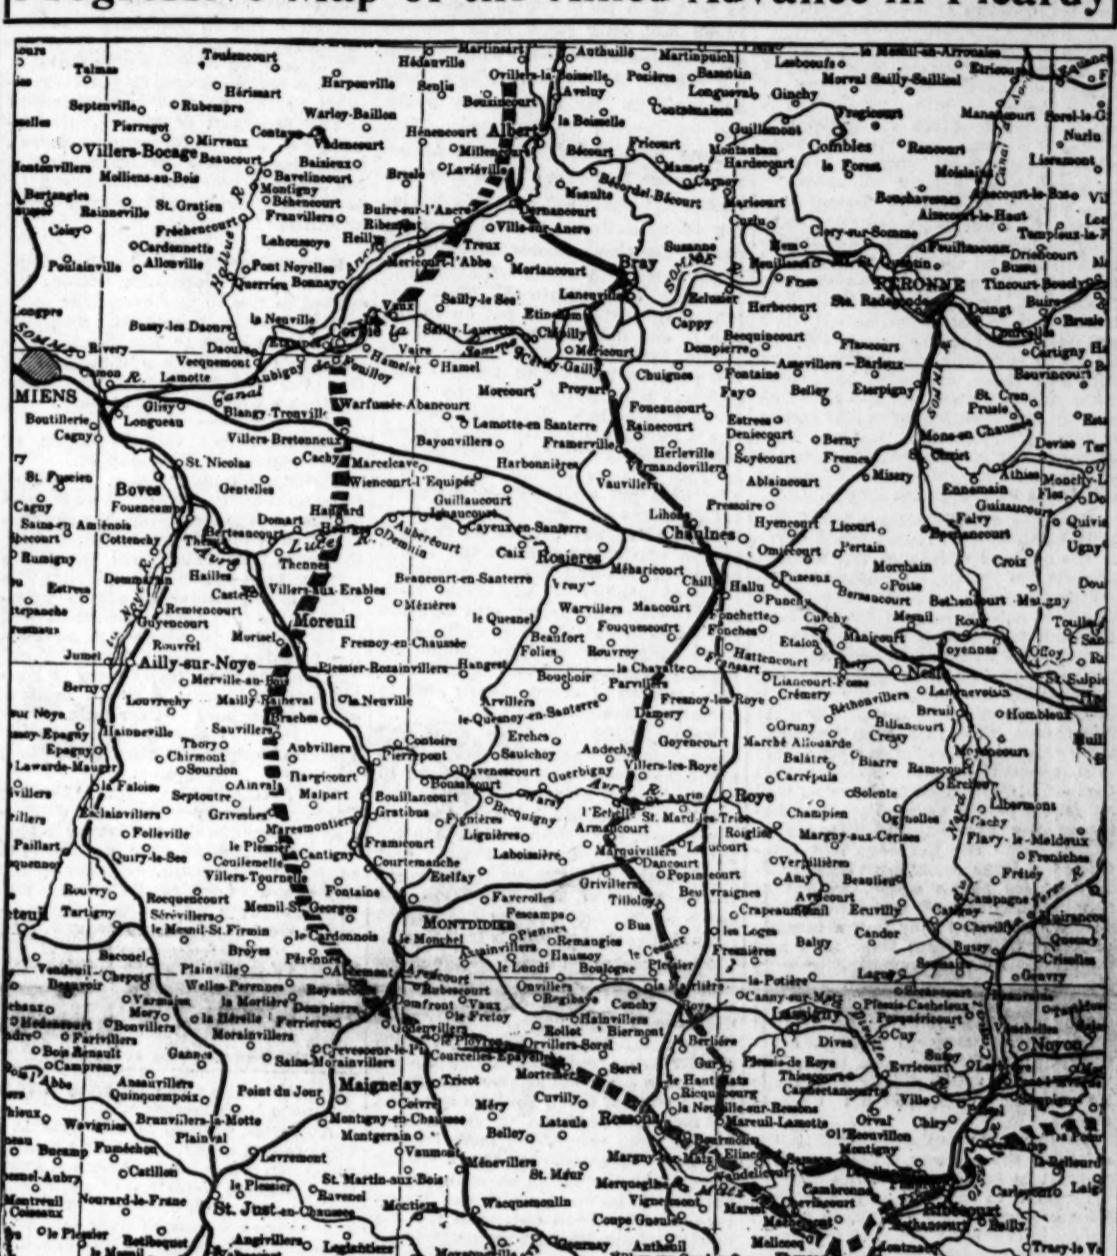

Three weeks ago yesterday a submarine appeared off the Massachusetts coast and sank a tug and three barges. The submarine next was heard from off the coast of Nova Scotia where several vessels were sunk.

In the meantime a U-boat appeared off the Virginia coast destroying the American tank steamer O. E. Jennings, the Diamond Shoal lightship and other craft.

A British merchant steamer was sunk recently off the North Atlantic coast, according to the second officer of the German submarine which sent the nine fishing schooners to the bottom. This report was given members of the crew of the Kate Palmer, a fishing schooner, when they were taken aboard the U-boat. The fishermen did not learn the name of the Britisher. The men were brought here early today aboard the auxiliary schooner Helen Murley. They said they heard firing nearly all day Saturday. They were ordered alongside the submarine, taken aboard and kept below for about an hour. Later they were told to get into their dory and were cast adrift. They were

NEW DRAFT BILL WILL BE TAKEN UP BY SENATE MONDAY

Reed Urges Immediate Extension of Ages From 18 to 45 to Create "Irresistible Force" in Europe.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—Steps to reconvene the Senate so that the administration man-power bill extending draft ages from 18 to 45 can be taken up without delay were taken today by Senate leaders who ordered telegrams sent to all absences asking them to be present next Thursday when the bill is reported to the Senate.

Under the unanimous consent agreement by which the recess was taken, three days must elapse before any business can be transacted before a quorum has been called and as soon as the bill will be taken up next Monday.

Immediate extension of the draft ages to include all men between 18 and 45 so that an "irresistible force" can be sent to Europe to shorten the war, was urged by Senator Reed at the semi-weekly session of the Senate. Senator Reed warned against over-confidence on the allies' part and declared that now this country is in the war it will have to fight to a finish.

An effort by Senator Kirby of Arkansas to amend the bill so as to extend the draft ages from 21 to 45 inclusive, instead of 18 to 45, as proposed, failed today in the Senate Military Committee by an overwhelming vote.

Senator Kirby announced he would renew his effort when the bill reached the floor.

Linche, according to the War Board records, ignored instructions to fill out a questionnaire and submit to physical examination, until called before the Adjutant-General at Jefferson City. ### TERRIFIC BATTLE RAGES, WITH SLIGHT CHANGES IN THE LINE

40,000 Prisoners and 700 Guns Reported Taken by the Entente Forces — Teutons Said to Be Throwing in Fresh Reserves and "Reacting on Allied Forces With Some Success."

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 12, 4:33 p. m.—American troops are in the suburbs of Bray today, fighting a continuous battle for the outskirts of the little French city.

Only slight changes in the line as a whole are reported in dispatches reaching London this afternoon, but a ding-dong battle is raging all up and down the northern section of the present battle line.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—Extremely bitter resistance is being encountered from the Germans along the line of Chaulnes-Royen-Noyon. The enemy is bringing up strong reinforcements, while the allies are preparing for a further advance.

Nearly 40,000 prisoners and 700 guns have been taken by the allies in Picardy, according to reliable information here.

British Reported in Western Edge of Bray.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—The French are continuing their advance between the Avre and the Oise, according to news received in London today and have captured the town of L'Echelle-St. Aurin, three miles directly west of Roye.

The line on this front now runs from L'Echelle-St. Aurin southeast through Armancourt and Tillotroy, three miles southwest of Roye, and continued on in a southeasterly direction through Gury, 11 miles southeast of Montdidier. It then curves more to the east and passes through the Montigny quarry to the hill north of Antoval, just northwest of Ribecourt, on the Oise.

CRISIS NEAR IN ALLIED ADVANCE AT CHAULNES, SIMONDS SAYS

Armancourt and Tillioy, according to the official statement from Field Marshal Haig.

The British positions south of Lihons were attacked last evening by the Germans. The attack was repulsed.

Sout of the Somme, British troops have captured 200 prisoners.

British positions east of Mericourt, south of the river, have been linked with the British line east of Etinehem, north of the river.

The statement reads:

"Yesterday evening the enemy again attacked our positions south of Lihons. He was repulsed.

"As a result of a successful operation carried on by us immediately south of the Somme we captured 200 prisoners and linked up our positions east of Mericourt with the line east of Etinehem, on the north bank of the river.

"On the right of the Fourth British Army our allies made progress yesterday afternoon in the direction of Roye, capturing the villages of Armancourt and Tillioy.

"On the northern portion of the British front we effected local improvements in our line east of Roched and between Vieux-Berquin and Merris."

ATTACKS BETWEEN ANCRE AND AISNE FAILED, SAYS BERLIN

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 11.—"Violent enemy attacks on the battle front between the Acre and the Aisne have failed," says the War Office communication issued last evening. The official communication follows:

"Between the Yser and the Acre, the fighting activity decreased during the day, but was revived at night, points in the evening. Strong enemy thrusts on both sides of the Oise were repulsed.

"On the battle front the enemy has extended his attacks as far as the Oise.

"Between Acre and the Somme, they collapsed before our lines. Directly south of the Somme the enemy remained inactive after their failures on Aug. 9. Strong partial attacks of the enemy near Raincourt and against Lihons failed as the result of our fire and counter-attack.

"The main strength of the attacks yesterday was directed against our front between the Acre and Avre. East of Rosieres and on both sides of the Amiens road and Roye, we repulsed many times repeated enemy attacks. In the fluctuating battle against the masses of armored cars the unshakable attacking strength of our infantry again made itself fully felt at this point. On many occasions the enemy's assaults broke down as a result of our artillery fire.

"Before the sector of a single division alone more than 40 armored cars are lying destroyed.

"Between the Acre and the Oise the enemy, after violent artillery preparation, made strong attacks against our old positions from Montdidier as far as Otheuil. He was not able to reach our new fighting line east of Montdidier, which we announced yesterday.

"Our rear guards received the enemy in our old positions with a strong fire and then yielded, fighting beyond the Acre, to the enemy, Givilliers, Requebourg and Marigny.

"There has been very lively aerial activity over the battlefield. We have shot down 22 more enemy airplanes and one captive balloon.

"On the Vesle the enemy was repelled between Flumes and Courlandon.

"In Champagne, west of the Somme-Py-Souain road, there were local engagements in which he took prisoners.

VON HUTIER FIGHTS FOR TIME WHILE SEEKING NEW LINE

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Aug. 12.—The Germans are reacting on the allied left with a certain amount of success, having had time to get into line divisions rushed frantically from the North. It is believed here the fresh troops are being thrown into the fight in a desperate endeavor to block the allied advance toward Noyon.

Gen. von Hutier, who escaped badly damaged from the Montdidier pocket, is trying now to halt temporarily on the Bois-Noyon line. He is strong enough at the Noyon end, where his flank rests on the Oise, but should the British succeed in debouching from the villages of Lihons, Chilly, Fransart, Preney and Goyencourt in the general direction of Noyon, Von Hutier's right at Roye would be turned, but he would be cut off and hopeless.

The entire line, it is believed here, would then go down. Should Von Hutier succeed in holding on sufficiently to get his guns and material away, his next move probably would be back towards the Somme, pivoting on Noyon. He would swing his right back on the line of Noyon and Noyon.

The Germans now are fighting for time to make this possible and the situation appears to be even more desperate today than it was Sunday. The Germans so far have done no more than check the allied left north of Avre. It is believed to be certain that they will spare nothing in an endeavor to push it back.

AMERICANS TOOK MORE THAN 500 PRISONERS AT CHIPILLY.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Aug. 12.—Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters describes the Anglo-American operations that cleared up the awkward Chipilly triangle as a remarkable feat.

"The Americans were chiefly from Chicago," the correspondent says. "Unsuccessfully did they do their job that they made over 500 prisoners combined."

BREAK OF GERMAN FLANK MIGHT BRING DISASTER TO ENEMY, CRITIC POINTS OUT

Care Must Be Taken, on Other Hand, He Says, That Franco-British Advance Does Not Run to Dangerous Salient at Point.

By FRANK H. SIMONDS, Author of "The Great War."

The fourth day (Sunday) of the great Anglo-French offensive, which will unquestionably be known hereafter as the Third Battle of the Somme, revealed with some measure of clarity the purpose of Ludendorff and the method he is following in endeavoring to check Foch. He has abandoned the old Montdidier salient and any notion of holding his position west of the line held by the Germans at the beginning of the First Battle of the Somme in July, 1916. He is now attempting to restore his front somewhere between the Somme and the Oise west of the line of Peronne-Ham-Chauny, to which he must eventually retire.

With the exception of reproducing the normal history of a successful offensive in the present form of warfare. Of the four stages, two—preparation of the attack and the attack itself—are over. The third phase, that of pursuit, is still going forward, but the successful resistance on the flanks suggests that we are almost at the point where the pursuit will merge into the fourth and last stage, which is the march of conquest to the new position. All now depends on the success of the Germans in maintaining their flanks in the next 24 hours.

Similar to March 21 Attack.

To illustrate by example: When Von Hutier broke Gough's front 20 miles eastward of the present battlefield on March 21 of this year, the same 14 British divisions practically out of the battle and opened a gap between the British and French armies just as Rawlinson now has opened a gap between the armies of the two Crown Princes which met between the Oise and the Somme. Following this break-through, Von Hutier's forces rushed in pursuit all the way to Avre and the Acre.

But the French south of the Oise and Byng's Third Army north of the Acre were not shaken by the German offensive and stood firm stretching out by their flanks toward each other, while Fayolle rushed French reserves up to the actual gap. The break was thus limited to the front of the Fifth British Army and was eventually closed, after there had been a gradual narrowing of the German wedge. There was then left the present salient—that is to say, the one which existed before the recent offensive began. It was impossible for the Germans to hold on either side of the gap, as they were being subjected to flank and cross fire from the unbroken flanks of the two allied armies.

Today everything is reversed. The British and the French have completely ruptured the German front between the Somme and the Lassigny high ground. They seem to have accounted for upward of 11 divisions, or three less than Von Hutier disposed of in his March offensive. But now, as then, the Germans are maintaining their positions on either side of the group are standing firm on high ground and there seems to be tendency of the allied drive both to grow weaker and this tendency becomes more marked we may expect to see the whole drive come to a halt at the west bank of the Somme, south of Peronne and the lines at least temporarily stabilize themselves on a front of Peronne-Ham-Chauny to the high ground north and east of Noyon.

On the other hand, new allied success, either now or later, will open the flanks or pivots of the German retreat, and more particularly the northern pivot, so that the Germans can be forced out of the high ground about Bapaume. A break in either of the positions might transform the whole offensive into the greatest disaster of the war.

And opened the road to the further advance that has been made."

"WORK-OR-FIGHT" ARREST MADE

Robert Lee Bronfield, 18 years old, of Graniteville, Ill., who told the police his habit of recent months had been to work only long enough to accumulate enough money to dissipate in a good time, was arrested last night under the "work-or-fight" order.

He further admitted that he has been able to obtain money without working by forging time records of the American Express Co. He said that now he is ready either to work or fight.

PREACHER ACCUSED OF ASSAULTING Y. M. C. A.

G. M. Compton, 45 years old, an itinerant Holy Roller preacher, was arrested Saturday in Fairchild, Wis., at the instance of the Wayne County Council of National Defense, who alleged that Compton in a sermon stated that the Y. M. C. A. has an aim of gobbling devices in its hats except snare decks, and people instead of kneeling that the war will end, try to get their sons into the Y. M. C. A."

Prisoners say they were told to hold the line of Andechs-Parrilles Fouquescourt at all costs, but the British are beyond that now and the Germans are massing still further back. It is difficult to see how he can dig himself in sufficiently along the Noyon line before the pressure comes too great.

During the first seven months of 1918 the Post-Dispatch printed 27,241 For Sale "Wants"—14,632 more than the FOUR OTHER St. Louis newspapers combined.

TANKS FLATTEN OUT TROTZKY AND LENINE IN FLIGHT, VILLAGE AND KILL ENEMY DEFENDERS

Five Armored British Machines Charge Houses, Crushing Them and All Machine Gunners Within.

By the Associated Press.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Sunday, Aug. 11.—The Americans and British north of the Somme have traversed the northern spur east of Chipilly and Etinehem as well as in their hands. Gressaire Wood had long since been cleared of the enemy, the allied forces passing around the wood, which was reeking with gas from many pockets. Here both the British and Americans were helped on their way by tanks. At one place a tank containing 12 volunteers rushed a strong enemy position. Scores of Germans were killed and seven officers and 200 men were captured. This permitted the infantry to get on to the line holding this morning.

The Americans in the fighting of the past 20 hours had further casualties, principally caused by machine gun bullets. But their casualties were no more than could be expected among troops constantly delivering attacks against the enemy, who here put up probably the stiffest resistance of any along the line, realizing the importance of the positions which are now in the hands of the British and American forces.

Large groups of prisoners, hungry, thirsty and grim, and appearing thoroughly disheartened, continue to try to break in any dangerous salient, attacked that salient and brought off a considerable counter success which robbed the British of a brilliant stroke.

HUMANITY, NOT GAIN! Slogan of Japanese Newspapers.

TOKIO, Monday, Aug. 5.—Japanese opinion generally as expressed by the newspapers welcomes the dispatch of troops to Vladivostok, with the hope that Japan will not find a large sphere of military activity.

The desire is manifested to adhere paternally to Premier Terauchi's call to do everything possible to advance the prestige of Japan, with the understanding that the country is joining the movement through motives of humanity and not for gain.

"HUMANITY, NOT GAIN!" Slogan of Japanese Newspapers.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 12.—The German embassy at Moscow will remove immediately to Pskov, owing to conditions in Moscow, according to advices from Berlin. (Pskov is 162 miles southwest of Petrograd and approximately 400 miles nearly directly west of Moscow.)

TANK CRASHES THROUGH BUILDING.

Five ponderous armored monsters went over and rolled directly into the place. Their crews discovered that the houses were crowded with Germans manning machine guns, principally from second-story windows. One tank leisurely advanced upon a house while a hall of bullets splashed off its metal hide. After reconnoitering at close range, the tank backed off and charged. Its great weight crushed in the whole building and it continued forward until the structure was flattened out, with the enemy machine gunners thoroughly efaced.

ENEMY DIGGING IN OPPOSITE ALLIED POSITIONS ON VESLE

ers are causing the Americans considerable inconvenience.

American officers at Flismette, in a brief report today said that 200 Germans Saturday night became separated from their detachment approaching for an attack on Flismette. Some they encountered their own barbs and every German was killed.

ENEMY DIGGING IN ON VESLE.

Allied aviators have reported that the Germans are digging in opposite the Franco-American line along the Vesle. The observers also have reported that the enemy is stringing barbed wire along the hills northwest of Flismette. Allied officers express the belief that the Germans will not give ground here unless they are deliberately pushed off the plateau.

The Americans on Saturday learned from their sources that the enemy was using an old rock quarry, large enough to conceal two regiments. They employed it as a refuge for troops at the rear. The Franco-American heavy artillery shelled the cave all day Saturday and the Germans were finally compelled to abandon it as a hiding place.

The Germans are digging trenches along the line west and east of Longueval and also in the valley of the Vesle.

GERMAN PRISONERS HAVE BOASTED THAT THEY ARE EQUIPPED WITH NEW ANTI-TANK RIFLES, FIRING A LARGE PROJECTILE AT GREAT VELOCITY.

Actual encounter with these rifles, however, demonstrated that they are complete failures when trained on the armored tanks. A number of the weapons have fallen into the hands of the British.

SWIFT TANKS LEAD CAVALRYMEN.

During the advance east of Rosieres, British cavalry sent back word that they could not proceed because of heavy fire from a woods on their front. A number of swift "whippets" rolled around to the back of the wood, but the Germans saw them coming and fired for their lives toward the rear. This gave the cavalrymen an opportunity and they charged into the enemy, who made a vain attempt to rally. The Germans were sabered right and left and 700 of them surrendered.

That was only one of the many instances where British cavalry, during the course of the battle, in addition to scouting far ahead of the advancing infantry and rounding up enemy forces, has made thrilling charges with the traditional dash of the mounted forces. If the Germans have had hard time of it with the allied infantry and artillery, they have had doubly a hard one with the cavalry and the tanks.

IN THE REGION OF FLISMETTE THE AMERICANS CAPTURED A 23-YEAR-OLD GERMAN FROM A REGIMENT THAT HAD BEEN IN THE FRONT LINE FOR ONLY A DAY.

The American machine gun bullet and taken to a hospital, where the bullet hole in his hip was attended to.

A wounded prisoner from Flismette said that about 50 German prisoners in a similar condition were killed by a German gas attack Saturday night. They had lost their gas masks.

The Germans are using gas largely in all their attacks and the French and Americans are reciprocating with gas projectiles in profusion.

The Americans hold the outskirts of Flismette. There also are many troops within the village.

A general survey of conditions along the Soissons-Rheims front indicates the probability of any immediate radical change there. The Germans have stabilized their line between the Vesle and the Aisne, and the Americans and French continue their persistent reconnaissance work, which may or may not develop into a general action.

FULL ROUTINE FOR HOME GUARDS

Hospital Yesterday Had Several Men Overcome by Heat.

Members of the Third Regiment, Missouri Home Guard, in Camp Dwight Filley Jr., near Clayton, today took up the full round of military routine, some of the items of which were suspended yesterday.

Many visitors were at the camp yesterday afternoon. The hospital held several men who had become overheated, and numerous blisters and small injuries were treated by the physicians. A boxing match is to be staged this evening, near the Y. M. C. A. tent. The camp will continue until Thursday noon.

POLITICIANS IN FLAT AT CLAYTON COURT-HOUSE.

Robert L. Matthews of Clayton, a former State Senator, and William Hooper of Wellington, a former State Representative, had a political argument which ended in a fight on the courthouse lawn at Clayton today. Both landed blows before courthouse employees separated them. They are Republicans, but belong to different party factions.

ALLIED ATTITUDE TOWARD RUSSIA STATED BY FRANCIS

American, as Dean of Diplomats, Tells Foreign Minister He Believes Russians Will Turn Upon Germany.

By the Associated Press.

VOLOGDA, Russia, Thursday, July 25.—The reason for American Ambassador Francis and the other allied diplomats leaving Vologda for Archangel today (July 25) was their refusal to comply with insistent demands of the Bolshevik Foreign Office that they move to Moscow. The Foreign Office told the Associated Press that Moscow gave the State Department no cable from my Government that was sent after July 3, except two wireless messages inquiry why they did not hear from me. I had called fully every day.

SECRET DIPLOMACY ABOLISHED.

"Moreover, the press of Vologda and doubtless the entire press of Russia has received an order to print nothing from any allied Ambassador or representative without first submitting the same to the Soviet Government. Some jour-

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Arthur Guy Empey, soldier and author, lost his chance for a commission in the United States army by a few uncertain words on the stage of the National Theater in Washington. He was appearing in a new play, "Pack Up Your Troubles." President Wilson was present.

The real heroes of the war, Empey declared in effect, were the volunteers who went over in the first place and not the drafted men who are fighting now only because they were compelled. Empey ended with a flourish, but the expected burst of applause did not follow.

While the commission had been recommended, it had not been signed and delivered and three days later came the announcement that there had been a "mistake" in connection in granting of a captaincy to the former Sergeant.

New York Attorney-General, in Statement, Declares He Has Evidence of at Least Two Visits at Home.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Merton E. Lewis, State Attorney-General, declared in a statement last night that he could show by a series of affidavits that William Randolph Hearst, the newspaper publisher, had received at his home, at the same time, on two or more occasions, Bolo Pasha, who was recently executed in France for treason, and Count von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the United States.

Moreover, Lewis asserted he was prepared to show, by many affidavits, that Count von Bernstorff was a frequent visitor at the Hearst home above the time Bolo's trial came to New York in the spring of 1916, when Bolo obtained $1,650,000 from Von Bernstorff, with which to carry on the same German peace propaganda in France that Hearst was.

Oscar G. Colquitt, former Governor of Texas; Dr. Bernhard Dernburg, German propagandist; Bernard H. Ridder, editor of the New Yorker Staats Zeitung, and George Sylvester Viereck, formerly editor of the Fatherland, conferred at one time on the purchase of a New York newspaper, according to information which Deputy State Attorney-General Becker announces he obtained from Viereck during his investigation of the German propaganda movement in this country.

"The existing scarcity of coal," said the proclamation, "is creating a grave emergency in fact the most serious which confronts us and calls for prompt and vigorous action on the part of both operators and miners." He continues:

THE EITEL FRIEDRICH AND ITS DEGENERATE CAPTAIN

Even the Crew of German Raider of Sea Protested Against Brutal Commander

This is the fourth article by French Strother in a series he is writing under the title, "Fighting Germany's Spies." The facts and documents in these narratives have been verified in the archives of the Department of Justice.

By French Strother,
Managing Editor of the World's Work.

(Copyright, 1918 World's Work, by Otto F. Wood.)

OUT of the black picture of the German depravity in fighting this war have emerged four or five dramatic episodes that have stirred the imagination of the world and appealed to the romantic and chivalric instincts even of German's enemies. The cruise of the Emden will always remain one of the glorious traditions of the sea. The knightly spirit of those German aviators who flew low over the bier of their fallen foe of the French cavalry of the clouds, and strewed flowers upon it, was in the spirit of the best that war produces.

America was the scene of two such episodes. The first unexpected appearance of the U-53 upon our shores, rising unheralded from the unsuspected waters, thrilled the sporting instinct of our people. But perhaps the most dramatic incident was the arrival of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich.

During the night of March 9-10, 1918, the gallant cruiser of the Kaiser, the Martin, slipped into the harbor at Norfolk, having run the British blockade of cruisers outside the three-mile limit, ending a career of six months as a commerce raider, recalling the feats of the Alabama in the Civil War. The Eitel Friedrich was soon interned for the period of the war and her officers and crew put under formal arrest. Even the British whose fleet had been outwitted, gave their tribute of praise to the men who had taken their fair chance and had won away. Capt. Max Thierichens and his crew became objects of admiration to the world. They were showered with felicitations, most of all, as was natural enough, from Germans and German Americans.

That is the bright side of the picture—and no one, even now, would care to dim its lustre.

But even at his best the German of the ruling class seems tainted with the ineradicable nature of the beast.

Notes From Many Women in Flood of Congratulations

AMONG the great quantities of letters of congratulation which Capt. Thierichens received were many from German-American women. They were stirred by the brilliancy of his exploit; it was a ray of light in the gloom that had fallen on the Teuton peoples after the battle of the Marne, when the rosy vision of quick victory had turned to the gray fog of a long defensive war. These letters breathed the passionate loyalty of the German spirit to the Fatherland. To these women, Thierichens was the embodiment of the martial spirit of their race—the spirit of the sons they saw themselves in imagination sending forth to war. Some phrases from their letters strike the key:

It is a pleasure for us to help our German brothers, but I also understand that you, my dear brother, are waiting to come out from your predicament. How grand it is that you are receiving letters from the Fatherland. We don't hear anything. Can't write anything, as the letters are not being delivered. It is good news. It is wonderful. My heart is jumping with joy. I look with confidence in the future. I have to please so many; have so many times to defend my Germany, but I have an unlimited confidence in God and in the truth.

Again: Hold your head high and do not forget: starlight itself is in the night and God does not forsake his own.

Their attitude was one of high patriotism and unadulterated pride. They sent him books and delicacies, scraps of news from Germany, and in every way sought to comfort and inspire their hero.

Thierichens was indifferent to the lofty purpose of these letters. His mind was depraved by the social custom of military Germany by which men of the officer class are in youth taught to consider themselves above the moral law. He was quite aware of the kinship of all emotions and he promptly undertook to change the direction of these currents of passion into a channel more pleasing to his taste.

It was not long until he had narrowed his correspondence chiefly to three women and of these more particularly to two. Of these latter one was a German servant girl of rather better than average understanding, and the other a kindergartner teacher in the Middle West, one 25 and the other 45 years of age. Their correspondence in both cases started on an exalted plane. It ended in deplorable unprintable.

On the reading of the complete series of Thierichens' letters to these women could give a full understanding of the heartlessness, the baseness and the ingenuity with which this man, always playing upon their patriotic fervor, transmuted their finer feelings into the most degrading travesty of romantic love. He and the kindergartner teacher never met. But by the time their correspondence came under Government censorship it had become a blend of exalted patriotism and of passion perverted to the obscenities pictured on the walls of ruined Pompeii.

Letters From Wife and Daughters in Germany

TERrible was the plight to which the teacher had descended, the case in which the German servant found herself was men who ever had been in charge of a vessel. He is a disgrace to any military organization, and we feel ashamed that he brought disgrace to our vessel. He is one of the worst egoists in existence, without any feeling for his fellow men. He is guilty of using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes, advertising in the papers that he would receive liebesgaben (love packages) for the soldiers in order to benefit himself, and later selling the same packages after an inspection and rifling; he kept everything of value. He received 1,000 packages and money from very near every German society and countless private people, but his men never saw a penny of the same. The money he has spent for himself and some of his officers in his orgies.

In order to make the Government think that he was all he should have represented he pulled off the biggest bluff ever thought of. He took 10 men with him and could run off, supplied the same with money, and after a few moments sent some other boys over the side to make as much noise as possible to call the attention of the guards. He had his men maltreated wherever there was a chance to do so. Even though this after we had been brought to Fort Oglethorpe. We have to thank the U. S. officers for putting a stop to it. The Captain had been mad that he lost the power over the men. He swore he would bring the men to a military prison for years to come, simply because they refused to be treated like dogs after being informed by the U. S. officers that they don't have to stand for anything like that. If it was not for the iron discipline maintained by the Germans there would have been a mutiny on board the ship. Even a common man hates to see good supplies going to waste just because the Captain could not get quick enough to his wine, and the men feed onhardtack that was full of worms. Some of the men were unwilling to appear in court against the Captain to bear out because they are not protected by the U. S. Government, and may be held responsible for the law if they are returned to Germany. We do hope that there will be an investigation of the evil doings of said Captain. If found guilty, we do hope that he may find out what it does mean to do wrong to his fellow men.

Photographic Record Kept of All Ships Destroyed

PHOTOGRAPHS were taken by officers of the Eitel Friedrich during her cruise. In these they made a complete record of the ships they sank, even to photographs of these vessels when first sighted and "progress pictures" of their destruction and submersion, mounting with photographs on sheets of paper embossed with the imperial sign. The Eitel Friedrich was a cruiser, not a submarine, and it far observed the rules of war as to removing the crews before the ships were sunk.

One of these merchantmen was an American, the W. H. Frye. The German photographs show the Star and Stripes flying from the stern when sighted and then a last view of the topmasts as she went beneath the waves. On the William P. Frye, as on many of the others, women were among the prisoners of war removed to the Eitel Friedrich. Aboard the German raider were locked in their cabins under guard and treated with scrupulous politeness.

Perhaps it was as well for their peace of mind that Thierichens' subsequent record in an American court of law was not embalmed on this scale. The only point at issue was the difference between the German crew and their Captain trained in the Prussian military code of morals which the foregoing documents show.

How War Correspondent Archibald Was Trapped Carrying German Messages

THE case of James J. F. Archibald, war correspondent, is another sample of the German fatal gift for trusting a weak link in an otherwise ingenious and complete chain. Their "cleverness" was the cleverness of the cocky boy who thinks he can outwit any one. The sad ending of Archibald's career, the ignominious exposure of his character as a messenger for the Germans, was simply itself. And the revelations contained in his messages he carried were most discreditable to the honor and the wisdom of the plotters in the Teutonic embassies.

The story begins on July 29, 1914, six days after Austria's ultimatum to Serbia and three days before the formal historical date of the opening of the war. On that day an enterprising American newspaper syndicate telegraphed Mr. Archibald in Washington for $5000 for pro-pranda work:

Dear Mr. Archibald:

Please telegraph us your terms for going to the European war, so that we can size up the sydicate field. As soon as received will try for quick action.

THE WHEELER SYNDICATE, INC.

Archibald soon had his arrangements made, though his employers were ignorant of the reason for the surprising ease with which he obtained the highest possible entree to the best possible points of observation within the German lines. It should be said at once that their attitude was perfectly correct and that the moment they discovered the true nature of his errand they discharged him by cable, on Oct. 27. But that comes later in the story.

Dispatches Took Form of German Propaganda

ARCHIBALD was soon in Germany and began sending back cable dispatches to a syndicate of papers, the principal ones of which were the New York Times, Tribune and World. His dispatches, however, were so blatantly pro-German and had so much more propaganda than news in them that these quickly became dissatisfied. For example, the Times cut out of one of his dispatches a large section of fulsome eulogy of the German Government. Imagine their astonishment the next morning to receive a telephone call from Capt. Boy-Ed, the naval attaché of the German Embassy with offices in New York. Capt. Boy-Ed demanded the reason for the omission of these paragraphs. The Times naturally demanded Capt. Boy-Ed's source of information that such paragraphs existed. It soon developed that Boy-Ed was receiving direct from Germany duplicates of all the material that Archibald was cabling for publication. As soon as the American newspapers understood this situation they declined to proceed further. In the same spirit and simultaneously the next morning to receive a telephone call from Capt. ## Reviews of the New Movie Films . . .

STIRRING MELODRAMA IS "THE GREAT LOVE"

Story of Spies and Air Raids With Occasional Glimpses of British Nobility.

David Wark Griffith's newest production, "The Great Love," after much heralding, had its first presentation in St. Louis at the West End Lyric and Lyric Skydome yesterday, coincidental with its release in New York and other cities. While it is not to be compared with "The Birth of a Nation" or other big Griffith film dramas, it tells an interesting story of the melodramatic type and has some thrilling scenes. The best of these are representations of air raids over England and of battle scenes at the front.

Intrigues of German plotters and pacifists are woven through the action and several scenes are introduced to show how the women of England are doing their part in helping to win the war. This gives occasion for introducing "close-up" pictures of the Princess of Monaco, the Countess of Massereine, Lady John Lavery, the Countess of Drogoda, Lady Diana Manners, daughter of the Duke of the Rutland, known as the most famous beauty in England; Miss Elizabeth Asquith, daughter of the former Prime Minister of England; the Hon. Mrs. Montagu, Miss Bettina Smart-Wortley and Miss Violet Keppel.

A fleeting glimpse of the Dowager Queen, Alexandra, also is shown, and there are occasional views of women workers in munition plants. None of these have any bearing on the plot. The story is that of a young English girl who loves an American soldier in the Canadian army, but out of pique marries a man who turns out to be a pro-German plotter. When his plans are foiled the plotter kills himself and she returns to her "great love." Robert Harron has the hero role and Henry B. Walthall is the villain. The leading feminine roles are in the hands of Lilian Gish, Rosemary Theby and Gloria Hope.

FOR THE SOLDIER BOY. There is nothing so much as a Military Wrist Watch. Handmade. Watch is illuminated dial at $15.00. $10.00 monthly. J. C. Bros. & Co., 2d floor, 308 1/2 6th st.—Adv

IMPOSSIBLE WAR DRAMA AT COLUMBIA THEATER

Aviator Is Spanish-American War Veteran and Secret Serv- ice Man.

Another war-play special feature holds the screen at the Columbia this week. It is "Berlin via America," in which Francis Ford has the leading role of Phil Kelly, who must have found the fountain of youth, for he is described as a veteran of the Spanish-American War and an aviator in the present war. And he looks as always does. Besides being an aviator, Kelly also is in the secret service, under these unusual instructions: "If necessary, prove disloyal to your country." He is branded by his friends as a slacker and a disloyalist, but he dare not set them right. He goes to Germany in a German submarine and enlists as a German aviator, but in the end he squares himself by furnishing the allies with information which enables them to win a great victory. All of which is melodrama spread on a little too thick for indoor comfort in hot weather.

A GOOD DOUBLE BILL AT NEW GRAND CENTRAL

Edna Goodrich in Stunning Gowns and Frank Keenan in Run- ning Comedy.

An interesting double bill went on for the week at the New Grand Central yesterday, the features being Edna Goodrich in "The Gadabout," originally billed as "Her Husband's Honor," and Frank Keenan, "More Trouble."

"The Gadabout" has a Japanese villain, but if he ever had any official connection with his Government, as the advance notices proclaimed, he has been removed from that high eminence and is now an innocent enough plotter who does nothing worse than entertain the mistaken notion that he can win an American woman's love. The play is a rather tangled melodrama in which the "papers" play a large part, though the reason for their importance is not made clear.

"More Trouble" is a swift moving comedy in which Keenan is seen at his best as the self-made father of a college boy who apparently has been leading the dual life of a plodding student and a reckless spendthrift. There is a well sustained mystery and a good climax which fools everybody.

"MORAL SUICIDE" AT CENTRAL GRIPPING PROBLEM PLAY

John Mason, Leah Baird and Anne Luther Are in the Cast.

"The Moral Suicide," a graphic film play is this week's attraction at the Central. It is a big production of its kind, with John Mason, Leah Baird and Anne Luther in the leading roles. The story is that of an aged millionaire who, against the advice of his children is ensnared into a marriage with an adventuress, thereby committing moral suicide.

He learns too late that the adventuress wanted only his money.

At her best he has ordered his daughter from his home. He loses his social prestige and his wealth.

His son commits a murder and is convicted. Half-clad and half-starved, the one-time millionaire becomes "sandwich man." Through the open door of a safe he sees his daughter in questionable company.

It is difficult to see how such a train of events could lead to a happy ending, but it does, in a very surprising manner.

PICNIC TRUCK IN COLLISION 11 Persons Injured When Machine Hits Touring Car in Park.

Eleven persons were hurt at 8 o'clock last night when an automobile truck occupied by a picnic party collided with a touring car in Forest Park, at the intersection of Faulkner Drive and River des Peres. The truck, which was going down hill on Clayton Drive, when the wheel stuck, was upset.

POLICE ITEMS

Thomas Skredinske, 32 years old, a laborer, of 1312 North Twelfth street, was caught running away from a fire box from which a false alarm had been sounded at 3 a.m. yesterday. Three other false fire alarms had been sent in from the neighborhood within an hour, and witnesses identified Skredinske as the man who pulled the hook.

Mrs. Kate Ahern, 2821 Morgan street, was shot in the right thigh at 4:30 p.m. yesterday by Mrs. Margaret Hollman, 38 years old, of 4519 Evans avenue, when the latter fired at her husband, George Hollman.

The laundry mark T-47-G on a handkerchief may help the police identify burglars who cracked the safe in the saloon of Demetrios George, 401 South Twelfth street. George stole $100, Liberty Bonds, 500 packages of cigarettes, $100 in cash and a revolver. The kerchief was dropped by one of the burglars.

At the request of Corp. C. E. Pittman, stationed at Waco, Tex., who asked that inquiry be made as to how his wife was getting along, detectives yesterday visited a rooming house at 4035 Delmar boulevard. A woman known at the house as "Mrs. Donald" responded to the call for Mrs. Pittman. She admitted, the detectives said, that she had been living under the assumed name with William Richter, 20, a chauffeur. She is 26 years old. Both were arrested. A 7-year-old son of Mrs. Pittman by a former marriage was placed in charge of the police matron.

Harry Brown, 50 years old, of 2933 Bacon street, a junk dealer, was shot in the left side by negro at Twenty-third and Atlantic streets at 8:30 a.m. in the chinatown section. Brown said the negro tried to rob him. Joseph T. Buck, a negro, was arrested at his home, 2345 Scott avenue. He denied the shooting.

Gertie Budzinski, 6 years old, and Mary Karhan, 7, both of 1314 Hogan street, were knocked down in front of their home at 4 p.m. yesterday by an automobile driven by Mrs. Mary Jordan, 1815 Cass avenue. They were cut on the head. Sander Sirok, 1851 Division street, was knocked down at Nineteenth and Bidle streets by an automobile owned by Sam Friedman, 4212 West Pine boulevard. He was cut on the head.

Clarence Burchardt, 22 years old, 220 North Third street, St. Charles, Mo., when with an outing party near May Station, St. Charles County, yesterday climbed a tower carrying Keokuk electric power to take pictures. Came in contact with wires and was instantly electrocuted.

Patrolman Eugene Kane, 45 years old, of 2724 Michigan avenue, died last night at the Alexian Brothers Hospital. He was strucken with paralysis last Friday night while walking his beat in the Carr Street District.

The Rev. Thomas E. Greene, pastor of Trinity Methodist Church, Thirteenth and Tyler streets, spoke yesterday in Grace Church, Skinner road and Waterman avenue, on the religious and social needs of the "inner city," as he termed the district between the river and the river. He said the churches had largely abandoned this field. He outlined a program of medical, social and recreative service, which he said, it was the duty of the churches to undertake.

Mrs. Elizabeth Primm, 81 years old, died of senility yesterday at the Washington Hotel. She was the mother of Samuel S. Primm, presdent of the Park Automobile Co.; Alexander T. Primm, vice president of the J. Kennard & Sons Carpet Co., and Clawson Primm. The funeral will be tomorrow at Belleville, where she formerly resided.

SECOND U. S. JUDGE LIKELY HERE

Either of Two Measures Now Pending in Congress Would Bring Result.

An additional Federal Judge for St. Louis will be provided, in the belief of Congressman Igoe of the Eleventh District, by one of two measures now pending in Congress.

One is Representative Hamlin's bill for such an additional Judge in the eastern district of Missouri, and another in the western district. Another is the bill introduced by Representative Clegg of Virginia, which would permit the president to name an additional Judge in any district where one is needed, either because the incumbent has passed the retirement age or because the court docket is overcrowded.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privilege, always stand by the poor, always sympathize with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

JOSEPH PULITZER.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

St. Louis and Thrift Stamps.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I have just read with a great deal of surprise an article on the editorial page of your paper, issue of Aug. 9th, under the heading of "St. Louis and Thrift Stamps," signed by "L. K. Meekin of C. N. D." in which it is stated that in conversation with agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. the writer had learned that all Thrift Stamps are purchased from the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. of New York and distributed to different agencies throughout the country and that New York receives credit for the sale of Thrift Stamps which are sold in St. Louis to the citizens of St. Louis and through the efforts of the people of St. Louis.

The writer says if this is unfair would not credit if it were true, and since it is not true it is highly important that the people of St. Louis who may have read this article be properly informed as to facts. It is true that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. has agreed to sell $65,000,000 worth of Thrift and War Savings Stamps and the representatives of this company in St. Louis have been assigned a certain quota of this amount and we are doing everything that we can to inform the public, which has been told the Government, and are anxious to assure the good people of St. Louis, we are not only interested in the success of the sale of these stamps on behalf of the Government, but are anxious that St. Louis be properly credited with every purchase, that every Thrift Stamp and every War Savings Stamp sold by agents of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. is purchased from the St. Louis Postoffice. In fact, we are working in harmony with Postmaster Selph in every way and are just as anxious that St. Louis shall receive the credit as any other business concern in St. Louis or as any other individuals are.

We hope, therefore, that you will give this conspicuous notice, so that the people of our city will know that the statements set forth in the article to which I have referred are incorrect, untrue and unfair to Postmaster Selph, postal officials and all other officials of the Government and to the citizens of St. Louis and to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. while in seeking to do all that is in their patriotic movement, and no branch of the company would be a party to a scheme whereby any city other than the city where the stamps are sold would be permitted to receive credit.

I shall also appreciate if the writer of that article would furnish me with the name of the employee of this company who is alleged to have given this information. Stories of this kind hurt not only the people about whom they are circulated, but they are intended to create discord and dissension among the people of our community affected and in some measure such stories are lending aid and comfort to the enemy and I hope that in future should information come to you relative to the sale of War Savings and Thrift Stamps, you will confirm or verify it through Postmaster Selph, who would be in a position to discredit such stories and render their publication impossible.

The World's Common Enemy.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
The spiritual evil that is striving to strangle the civilized world has been recognized.

Such diplomacy discards human acceptance of justice based upon facts, and replaces it with adapted theroizing and alleged self justification.

Although Germans are saturated with selfish diplomacy, it is by no means limited to Germans.

Let the clear searchlight of truth shine upon one's self, and we can easily detect that our words, thoughts and works indicate selfishness, instead of love, fairness and justice.

True Christianity conquers pride, admits error, recognizes facts, welcomes and appreciates the truth, regardless of whether is favorable or unfavorable to one's self.

If selfish diplomacy were displaced by intelligent Christianity the now prevailing corruption, political corruption, religious corruption, business corruption and individual mental corruption so common throughout the civilized world would be immediately eradicated.

The world is entering upon a new Christian era, because individuals are awakening to a desire to know and accept truth and justice regardless of selfish interests.

More Sprinkling Needed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I have a store on Gravois avenue, near Jefferson. This street has a heavy traffic, as it's the one mostly used by funerals, delivery trucks, etc. It goes without saying that the dust these autos raise is very great. Yet it is seldom sprinkled. How can a man keep a presentable place in the face of such an obstacle? I know the sprinkling tax must be paid by the property owner. I am only a renter. Why, then, if the work is paid for, is it not done? Of course, I pay my share toward this necessary work in rent, as it's the tenant after all from whom the landlord collects all he is obliged to pay in taxes, etc. Will not the proper authority take up this matter and give us something for our money?

LONG ENDURED,

THE WAR THAT JACK MADE.

The House that Jack Built well illustrates the war-work situation.

The man that digs the coal that makes the steam that runs the factory that makes the machines, munitions and ships that equip and transport the soldiers that fight the enemy, wins the victory for democracy.

From the man in the mine to the thoroughly trained and equipped soldier in the field the chain is complete. No link can be spared or weakened without weakening the whole chain. The chain is no stronger than its parts.

The story may be varied to fit every line of industry. The men that dig the coal and supply the oil, the men that run the industrial plants that produce everything we need for effective war; the men that build cars and ships and operate them; the men that produce and distribute the food; the men that do all the work necessary to make our fighting lines on land and sea efficient are all essential links in the chain of victorious war work.

men is to be organized to warn small investors of the risks they run and try to stop the waste which is hurtful alike to the investors and to the Government.

The states have been making some efforts to deal with the wild cat evil, with indifferent success. This might be a good time for the Federal authorities to take such drastic action against the wild cat fraternity as would put a stop to activities which are militating against the winning of the war.

KEEP THE AGE AT EIGHTEEN.

By extending the draft age limits a very large number of men in the group between 32 and 45 and a relatively small number in the group between 18 and 20 will be required to register. But it will be in the lower and smaller group that most of the men available for military service will actually be found.

For every year that Congress might raise the minimum age above 18 it would reject almost as many men qualified for service in the army as can be secured in the entire group between 32 and 45. The figures are not conjecture. They are based on fairly reliable statistics and supported by the experience gained in the administration of the selective service act during the past 12 months.

Under 1917 registration covering the 11-year period from 21 to 31, the percentage of men placed in class 1 was only about half the percentage under the 1918 registration, which affected only those reaching the age of 21 between June 5, 1917, and June 5, 1918. The reports made by the local boards all over the country bear out the estimates drawn from other sources by Postmaster-General Crowder for the guidance of Congress.

As registrants under the selective service act advance in years, the proportion available for service declines rapidly. In the 32 and upward group it will hardly be better than six or seven to 100 registrants. In the 1918 class, all men of 21, it will run at least from 40 to 50 to 100. Between 18 and 20 years, under the plan submitted to Congress, it should run even higher.

The problem before Congress is to provide means for increasing the strength of the army with the least expenditure of time and effort.

The biggest reservoir of man power upon which the War Department can draw quickly is the group of over 3,000,000 young men between 18 and 21. If Congress should balk at 18 as the minimum age and fix the limit one year higher, it will defer the training of over 600,000 men.

How would it replace them? By forcing into the military service skilled men needed in war industries and men supporting dependent parents and wives and children?

Many German soldiers surrender when they learn white bread is to be had behind the American lines. Get the Hun on the run with a gun or a bun.

DELUSED HEROES.

Commander Schweiger, of the submarine U-58, which sank the Lusitania, and Capt. Strasser, who had been most successful as a Zeppelin bomber of English cities, are both dead. They died with their boots on, Schweiger being blown to pieces under water when his U-boat exploded by accident, and Strasser being burned or drowned with the crew of his airship in its last raid.

Under an honorable government, both these men could have won fame as genuine heroes, their names going down to posterity as among the bravest of the brave. Without a stain on their escutcheons, they could have been remembered, in song and story, as leaders in a new form of warfare that demanded the utmost daring and skill.

But as tools of the Potsdam murderers, deluded by the hellish philosophy which Germany adopted as the basis of her designs to conquer the world, both these brave men became pirates and slayers of innocent women and children, and so they went to death with hands dripping with innocent blood.

The leaders of Germany have done nothing more dastardly than in the degradation of their strong men by instilling into them the doctrines of futility, turning them into enemies of the civilization.

POOR NORWAY.

Norway is reaping a harvest of kroner from the war. The trade of the Port of Bergen, it is said, has doubled, and the merchants are well satisfied with the outlook. Before the war, Norway's mercantile marine ranked fourth, after those of Great Britain, Germany and the United States. Norway is essentially maritime, having over 1000 miles of coast, with harbors on the west which are always free from ice.

But though Norway is getting rich, she cannot be happy. Each week Germany sinks some of her ships and kills some of her sailors. During July Norway lost 14 ships in this manner, with 55 sailors. Since the war began, German submarines have sunk a total of 856 Norwegian vessels, aggregating 1,169,587 tons, and in these sinkings 1802 Norwegian sailors have been drowned with the crew of his airship in its last raid.

Under an honorable government, both these men could have won fame as genuine heroes, their names going down to posterity as among the bravest of the brave. Without a stain on their escutcheons, they could have been remembered, in song and story, as leaders in a new form of warfare that demanded the utmost daring and skill.

WOMEN'S WEAR—WOMEN'S SWEAR.

With the women breaking into pretty nearly everything, we need a commission or something to lay down new rules of feminine conduct and new regulations of feminine raiment. One of the questions to be settled is whether women, when they wear men's clothes, are entitled to swear men's oaths. It is raised by the action of an Eastern dock company in discharging three lady stevedores because they cursed like gentleman stevedores.

There was no complaint about their work, it seems. They hustled hundredweight bags of sugar and coffee and asked no odds from the male huskies with whom they worked, but the language that they used! It made the men jealous, and to avoid demoralization of the working force they were let out. Sixteen are still at work, but they have been given to understand by the timely discharge of the three that if they expect to hold their jobs they will have to be ladylike in their walk and conversation. It is not at all certain that we have seen the end of the affair. When the emancipation leaders hear of it they will probably have something to say to that dock company about woman's right to swear like a man when she works like a man.

There is no telling what will happen when the W. C. T. U. of Bloomington, Ill., gets around to the dock ladies' case. The Bloomington ladies have opinions on the subject of overalls which suggest that lady swearers will receive no encouragement in that quarter. They have petitioned the Bloomington City Council to pass an ordinance prohibiting women from wearing overalls on the streets. They say there is a certain dignity about womanhood, of which skirts are the visible manifestation, and that there is no such thing as a woman dispensing with her skirts, at least on the streets, and retaining her dignity.

Inasmuch as there is little chance of the lady stevedores and the wretches getting together on what to wear and what to swear, a commission of male experts in overall wearing and swearing should be constituted to draw up the rules and regulations.

Champ Clark, who was going to chase out of his district with a double-barreled shotgun those who criticised his opposition to the draft, now wants the draft limit extended to 58, so he can go and fight in his son's regiment. Evidently he still has the double-barreled shotgun.

Those of us who have paid big doctor bills without getting very much in return know exactly how the Kaiser feels about Doc Rumely.

It is doubtful whether the Government could use a man of 45 who would leave a girl behind him.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

Newspaper Curtailment.

From the New York Times.

WHY should the War Industries Board

attempt to dictate to the newspapers how they should reduce their size, the class of matter they must omit in order to reduce their consumption of white paper to meet the Government requirement? The end sought, as we understand it, is to cut down white paper consumption in order that the overburdened railroads may have some slight relief. Would not that end have been attained had the order gone forth that tonnage consumed must be reduced by 15 per cent, or 20 per cent, of whatever the requirement might be, leaving each newspaper to determine in its own way how the saving should be accomplished? We are sure that the ends of impartial justice and the interests alike of the public and the newspapers would have been better served by such an order than by the regulation just issued by the Pulp and Paper Section of the Board.

The curtailment is to be entirely of reading matter, 5 per cent, up to 50 columns and not over 70 columns, 30 per cent, above 70 columns and not over 90 columns, and so on. Under this regulation everything is classed as reading matter that is not paid advertising. But is paid advertising sacred to the Government? It is not so to the newspapers. The prosperity of a newspaper is based upon the satisfaction and confidence of its readers. When readers have come to it in large numbers, when a considerable circulation has been reached, the advertising comes. But many a newspaper would much prefer to abridge its advertising rather than to curtail its reading matter, which is its life and soul. The reduction order is drastic; in many cases it will be difficult to meet the requirement without sacrifice of value to the reader, while a diminution accomplished in part by omitting advertising and in part printing less reading matter would have left everybody satisfied. The newspapers themselves, not the Government, should determine how the reduction of news print consumption is to be accomplished.

It is unfortunate that these regulations were issued at the moment when the casualty lists from the front demand a large amount of space from the newspapers. The Times of yesterday gave nearly ten columns to these lists, and the pressure upon newspaper space is likely to continue for some time. In the interest of the public, of the Government and the prosecution of the war, would it not have been well for the War Industries Board to omit casualty lists from the reading matter classification in order that no newspaper should be tempted to save space by trenching on what we may properly call sacred ground?

Sinclair and Doyle.

From the Omaha World-Herald.

A RECENT exchange of letters between Arthur Conan Doyle and the Socialist author, Upton Sinclair, contains some very spicy reading. Sinclair sent the great detective story teller some copies of his magazine. In acknowledging their receipt Mr. Doyle told Sinclair what he thought of his doctrines. Some of the passages in that letter were as follows:

You talk of England having a perfect craze for battleship building. There was a margin, I believe, of four dreadnaughts between Germany and England in 1914, and that was the margin which preserved the clear seas and all that it meant. You ought to be thanking England instead of nagging her. All this talk of capitalism is perfect madness in face of the taxation cheerfully borne.

I am sure that you are a perfectly honorable man, and yet it is bare truth that if Germany were paying you highly, you could not serve her better than you are doing by spreading both class and international jealousy at such a time.

What Doyle says of Sinclair is equally true of a good many other Socialists. Latey Sinclair has seen a new light and is vigorously supporting the war, although his old "class conscious" doctrines are a great hindrance to him. In speaking of the war Sinclair says: "May it not cease until the Kaiser and his brood have been driven into exile, the Princes and the griffs and the hawks put to work, the last decoration trampled in the mud and the last iron cross melted into pea points?"

CUBS AND RED SOX HAVE BUT 2 GAMES ON ALIEN GROUNDS

Schedule Strongly Favors Leading Team in Major League Pennant Races.

CARDS ARE HOME TODAY

Hendricks' Men Will Open a Three-Game Series Here With Cincinnati Reds.

With the baseball season scheduled to end three weeks from today, the Chicago Cubs, leaders in the National League pennant race, have 21 more games to play, while the Red Sox, pace-makers in the American, have 20. Of the remaining battles, each of the two pennant favorites has only two games away from home — those on Sept. 2, the Cubs closing in Pittsburgh and Boston in New York.

During the week the Bruins won three games out of five, and held their lead of  $6\frac{1}{2}$  games over the Giants. In the A. L., the Hubtown entry was able to win only three out of seven starts, while the Indians broke even, and the lead of Barrow's men was cut from  $3\frac{1}{2}$  to three games. However, the schedule favors Barrow's men, as the Cleveland aggregation must play most of its remaining battles on foreign soil.

Here's the Decisive Clash.

There is a chance that the real pennant series in the American League will be opened in Boston next Saturday, when the Red Sox and Indians inaugurate a three-game series. In the contests staged between the pair in the Hub this season, the leaders have been returned in five of eight meetings. However, in the recent series in Cleveland the Indians won three out of four.

Show the Indians continue at the pace they have set all season and win 12 of the remaining 20, Fohr's aggregation would have to win 14 of the 18 still to be played to tie for first place.

If the Cubs hold their present gait for the remaining battles, the Giants will have to put over a winning streak of 21 to even tie. Which does not seem possible the way McGraw's men are playing.

Following are the games to be played by the two league leaders:

CHICAGO.
Aug. 12, 13, 14—Pittsburgh.
Aug. 16, 17—Philadelphia.
Aug. 18, 19, 20—Boston.
Aug. 21, 22, 23—New York.
Aug. 24, 25, 26—Brooklyn.
Aug. 28, 29, 30—Cincinnati.
Sept. 1—Pittsburgh.
Sept. 2—Two games in Pittsburgh.

DETROIT.
Aug. 12, 13, 14—New York.
Aug. 14, 15, 16—Chicago.
Aug. 17, 18, 19, 20—Cleveland.
Aug. 21, 22, 23—Browns.
Aug. 26, 27, 28—Detroit.
Aug. 29, 30, 31—Philadelphia.
Sept. 2—Two games in New York.

Cardinals Are Home Today.

The Cardinals, after winning eight of 20 games on the road, are back home today and this afternoon will play three games at the St. Louis Municipal Field against the Cincinnati Reds. Yesterday in Cincinnati, the two clubs broke even, the Reds trouncing Bill Doak in the opener, 3-2, despite the fact that he yielded only three hits. Gene Packard won the second, 2-1, from Luque, Matty's Cuban flower.

Hendricks' charges close their stand on the home lot on Aug. 26, after all the Eastern teams have been and then travel to Cincinnati and Pittsburgh to wind up the campaign.

Lee Meadows will pitch for the Cardinals today, with Pete Schneider on the hill for Matty.

500 Average for Cobb.

To Cobb, champion batter of the American League, had an average of .500 in the games with the Browns, he having made five hits in 10 attempts. Against this George Sisler had a .500, getting three safeties in 10 tries.

In the twin bill yesterday, the two clubs broke even, a double by Pitcher Houck, driving over the winning mark in the opening battle, which the Browns won, 5-2, while Kallio stunned the Burkenens, 5-1, in the second.

In the first home stand for Jimmy Burke as manager of the club, the Browns won eight games and lost 10. Today, an off date, will be followed by the Sportman's Park outfit opening a series with the Athletics in Philadelphia.

JOCK HUTCHINSON SETS NEW COURSE RECORD OF 66 AT BEVERLY LINKS

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—Jock Hutchinson, son of Glenview, yesterday set a competitive record of 66, 4 under par, for the links of the Beverly Country Club, in a Red Cross golf match in which he beat Bob McDonald of Indian Hill, defeated Frank Adams, Beverly, professor, and Charles Evans, National amateur, and open champion, 2 up and 1 to play.

The defeated pair, however, broke the world record for the prices at which the privilege of caddying for the day was sold. Hutchinson, Evans bringing $1150 and Adams $225.

On the tenth and the sixteenth holes, Hutchinson holed his approach shot for a "birdie," 3, and an "eagle," 2. He also made an eight-foot putt for another, on the fourteenth, eighteenth. McDonald and Evans took 72 strokes each while Adams required 73.

Hutchinson's score was well balanced as he took 33 strokes on each hole.

Early Closing of Campaign Embarrasses Stakeholders

Custodians of "Friendly" Bets Uncertain as to Whether to Let the Investments "Ride" or to Order the Speculators to Draw Down Their Stakes.

By John E. Wray.

THE life of the stakeholder is at best a cross between a nightmare and an ether dream. Enthusiasts who pick you out to hold their money for private baseball wagers are too prone to take too much for granted and to stipulate too little. Ordinarily the stakeholder emerges from the end of the season controversy with a high temper and a low regard for the intelligence of the nonstakeholding part of the human race.

This year, under the sad surprises of the war, the stakeholder's life is just as enjoyable as that of a convict.

The only answer to some of the problems presented must come out of the judgment of the unfortunate chosen to referee the wrangles and of course he's bound to be wrong, wherever there's a loser. The curtailing of the season has caused most of the trouble. Bettors are already heating the phone wires with questions as to how to pay off an between men who both are result-oriented.

Backers of the Chicago Cubs are the most restless since these honestly believe their club the best in the National League and certain to win the championship.

Scramble for Fourth Place.

For instance, in both leagues the scramble for the first division place is participated in by members of clubs. The duration of the race may play a vital part in it. The dropping of the last 30 games might make the difference between success and failure of certain teams.

Professional layers of odds forecast this contingency. One downtown "bookie" told the writer that he had only a few wagers based on the season, because the money did not "turn over fast enough." Such as he had, however, had a war clause which invalidated the wagers in case war caused a disarrangement of the schedule. He said this prevailed among the professional wagers, among them cautions.

The amateurs, however, did not think that fast or that far, and some of them have been unable to reach a decision. Those favorably situated want to let the wager "ride;" those having a dark outlook want the speculation called off.

The professional bookmakers agree that the sporting thing to do is to call off all wagers and return the sums originally invested to the speculators.

And so the question of the constitution of the schedule committee of the sport would be considerable. This year, owing to the uncertain effects of draft and military demands on ball players, few were willing to risk anything on a possibility six months remote. Only case-hardened enthusiast indulged.

Before the season opened the White Sox and the Giants were supposed to own almost "draft-proof" teams and to be almost certain of the ballot.

Antennae, however, did not think that fast or that far, and some of them have been unable to reach a decision. Those favorably situated want to let the wager "ride;" those having a dark outlook want the speculation called off.

NEW RECORD MADE BY MISS STEWART IN 2-MILE SWIM

19 Year-Old Victor in River Event Clips Three Minutes Off Her Previous Mark.

Using a powerful double trudgeon stroke developed under the tutelage of Tom Whitaker, the former Missouri Athletic Association swimming coach, Miss Grace Stewart yesterday again showed that she is the best long distance swimmer of all the local "mermaids."

Despite a very slow current, Miss Stewart yesterday won the seventh annual Western Rowing Club two-mile paddle, in the record time of 27 minutes 40 seconds, clipping almost three minutes off the previous standard.

The Fairground representative swam a better race than she has at any time during her career. She took the lead after about 150 yards and was never headed. At the finish she was two minutes ahead of her nearest rival.

On her showing yesterday Miss Stewart seems ready to encounter the best of her sex in the country in long distance events. The race was her fifth attempt at the two-mile game and was her third in straight victory.

In winning the State title, Ted Drewes won a very strong. Not that her opponent, Miss Evelyn Seavey, lacks the ability necessary to a woman tennis champion, but Miss Gould has brought to town her own game, has stood by it in the face of all types of opposition and by pluck and consistency made it win.

Against Charley Speice of Kingfisher, Okla., yesterday, Drewes started well. However, he was uncertain in his position that was real and hard. Not a default nor a "fluke" win aided him in his march through the lower rounds and he met the best man in the tourney in his upward climb.

GENERALLY run down? Want to have a chemist on being consulted by customer. "I've the very thing for you—Thompson's Tepcure. Four times a day, and in two days you'll feel like another man. Half a dollar a bottle."

"No, no, no!" said the customer, energetically.

"But it is the very thing for you. All the doctors are recommending it. We can't get it fast enough for our customers."

"I believe you, but I would prefer something else."

"Nonsense! I tell you the Tepcure will do more good in one day than anything else in a month. It cures everything. What's your objection?"

"Only that I'm Thompson."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

WILL you give me a crust of bread and a cup of water, m'm?"

"Certainly; I'll fix you up a nice lunch. But why didn't you ask for something substantial?"

"I'm a student of human nature. It's mighty seldom I strikes anybody what's mean enough to give me just a crust an' a cup of water."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Fair Enough.

A FARMER the other day took a plowshare to the blacksmith's to be sharpened, and while the blacksmith worked the farmer chucked and bragged about the sale of hogs he had just made.

"Them hogs was only 8 months old," he said, "and none too fat, nuther, but I seen that the buyer was at his wits' end, and by skillful juggling I boosted up the price on him just 300 pe cent. Yes, by gum, I got three times more for them hogs than I used to get before the war."

The plowshare being done, the farmer handed the 'smith 50 cents.

"Hold on," said the 'smith, "I charge $1.50 for that job now."

"You scandalous rascal!" yelled the farmer. "What do you mean by trebling the price on me? What have you done it for?"

"I've done it," said the blacksmith, "so's I'll be able to eat some of that high-priced pork of yours this winter."—Washington Star.

Farmer's Suggestion.

TWO ladies were married to musicians. The one, a bride of a year, was pushing a baby carriage in which were three fine babies—triplets, all girls. The other lady had been in the bonds of matrimony a couple of weeks. "What beautiful children!" exclaimed the newly married one.

"Yes," replied the proud mother, "I can tell you the funny coincidences. At our wedding supper the boys who played with my husband in the orchestra serenaded him and they played 'Three Little Maids from 'The Mikado.' Isn't that queer?"

At this the other bride turned pale.

"Mercy!" she gasped. "At our wedding supper Tom's friends serenaded him also, and they rendered 'The Sextet' from 'Lucia'."—Roller Coaster.

"Ever hear the story of the peacock?"

"I never did—I swear it!"

"A beautiful tale."
